The Vultee Legacy

Mark Klein

Ken Bohrman

These vintage WWII trainers will fly in for a happy reunion at the Western Museum of Flight (and their pilots are going to come along with them). So this is your chance to hear the story of the aircraft that trained so many American combat pilots and to meet the actual airplanes and their owners.

G. Pat Macha, Aviation Archaeologist and famed historian will provide us with the history of the BT-13 and the innovative company that designed and built them.
